59 make the grade!

After months of anticipation, 59 NCOs here learned that they earned a promotion to technical and master sergeant. The Air Force promoted 21.89 percent of those eligible to technical and 25.56 to master sergeant. For both ranks, The effective promotion dates -- when the Air Force releases line numbers -- is Aug. 1. For a complete list of Lajes promotees, see Pages 2-3. (Photo by Staff Sgt. Beverly Isik)

July 4 booths

Sign up at the community activities center for food and merchandise booths at the July 4 celebration. Cost is $25 for private organizations and $50 for home businesses. Saturday is the deadline. Call 2-4135 for more.

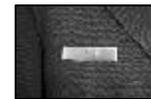

Free celebration T-shirts

Stop by the Flightline BX from noon-5 p.m., Saturday and design a July 4 T-shirt. The shirt and supplies are free.

Free service dress name tags

Wing officials said they received money from USAFE in March for free service dress name tags. They ordered name tags for everyone who was already on island and scheduled to be here past June 1.

The shipment has arrived and officials expect to pass them to unit-level by July 10.

There is still money left to make a supplemental order for those who were left off the original order list.

Voting registration

A Department of Defense voting experiment that allows military and overseas voters to cast their ballots through the Internet will expand in 2004.

Beginning this fall, Federal Voting Assistance Program officials hope to get as many as 100,000 military members — stateside and overseas — their eligible dependents and U.S. citizens living outside the United States to take part in the secure electronic registration and voting experiment.

The experiment covers only those U.S. citizens who fall under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act.

Project-eligible voters from participating project states will be able to register and vote electronically via any Windows-based personal computer with Internet access from anywhere in world.

Local and state election officials will use the system to receive registration applications, provide ballots to voters and accept voted ballots.

The system will use digital signatures and ballot encryption for security.

Voters can find a list of participating jurisdictions on the program's Web site at <http://www.serveusa.gov>.

AEF 'online' improves

The Air and Space Expeditionary Force Center at Langley AFB, Va., has launched an improved, more user-friendly version of their Web site, "AEF Online," to help airmen learn more about the AEF and provide information about deployments.

AEF Online continues to offer airmen links to many deployment locations, checklists and requirements.

Airmen can access AEF Online from any dot-mil computer at <https://aefcenter.acc.af.mil>.

Officer drug use

An officer from Kirtland AFB, N.M., has been dismissed from the Air Force and will serve four months confinement after being convicted of several drug-related crimes in a general court-martial.

Second Lt. Bryce Terpstra of the Air Force Safety Center pleaded guilty to using and possessing methamphetamine and possession of Clonazepam without a prescription. Clonazepam is a controlled substance experts say is commonly used to counteract the negative side effects of methamphetamines.

SFS; Bryan K. Thomas, 65th OSS; Donald J. Torgerson, 65th CES; John J. Trojanowski, 65th CS; and

Brian S. Wheeler, 65th OSS.

There were 4,832 of 18,903 eligible technical sergeants who earned promotion to master sergeant, a 25.56 percent selection rate, and 7,116 of 32,501 eligible staff sergeants for promotion to technical sergeant, a 21.89 percent selection rate.

A higher retention rate — opening fewer vacancies for each rank — was one reason promotion rates are lower than last year, Air Force Personnel Center officials said.

The master sergeant selection rate dropped 7.67 percent from last year, while this year's technical sergeant rate fell 11.62 percent from last year.

The average master sergeant selectee score was 340.99 points, based on the following:

134.26 for enlisted performance reports; 75.06 for promotion fitness exam; 66.05 for specialty knowledge test; 27.21 for time in grade; 35.94 for time in service; and 11.88 for decorations.

The average master sergeant selectee has 3.45 years time in grade and 17.06 years in service. People selected will be promoted to master sergeant from August to July 2004.

The average technical sergeant selectee score was 321.01 points, based on the following:

132.73 for enlisted performance reports; 71.83 for promotion fitness exam; 55.89 for specialty knowledge test; 35.13 for time in grade; 26.70 for time in service; and 6.13 for decorations

The average technical sergeant selectee has 4.80 years time in grade and 12.22 years in service. People selected will be promoted to technical sergeant from August to July 2004.

(Note: The list of people earning promotion comes from the MPF. Names are checked for spelling by the public affairs staff by checking against the wing's global e-mail address directory.)

Terpstra was charged after he tested positive for methamphetamine use during a random urinalysis in September.

Court records indicated that special agents found a broken glass pipe specifically used for smoking crystallized methamphetamine, a pink pill later determined to be Clonazepam and a white straw in his residence. The pipe and straw tested positive for methamphetamine residue.

The search also found another glass pipe, an at-home drug testing kit and an intestinal cleansing solution.

He recently graduated from the Air Force Academy and had been on base less than two weeks when he tested positive for illegal drugs.

Early morning wake up

Tech. Sgt. Aubrey Posey, 65th Air Base Wing safety office, wakes early for "recall" recently. The wing recalled its troops in an exercise June 13. According to wing Inspector General Maj. Karen Cook, unnecessary delays such as showers, personal grooming, food preparation and errands must be avoided during a recall. She added that it's a good idea for airmen to keep a copy of the latest recall roster in their wallet, purse or near a telephone. "National defense emergencies, contingencies and local disasters necessitate the need to contact personnel or recall them to their place of duty," Cook said. (Photo by Staff Sgt. Michelle Michaud)

Spouses overseas eligible for tuition assistance

Crossroads staff

Spouses of active-duty members stationed overseas are eligible for the Spouse Tuition Assistance Program.

Tuition assistance funds can be used in conjunction with other forms of financial aid including Pell Grants, Veterans Administration benefits, scholarships and other grants, according to education office officials.

Funds will be calculated as 50 percent of unmet tuition costs, not to exceed term or annual maximum limits.

To apply, spouses must submit an Air Force Aid Society Form 90A to the education office.

Submitting an application doesn't mean automatic assistance. The application will be reviewed by a committee who will determine eligibility based on financial need and the occupational focus of the student's course or program.

Students must maintain a 'C' average. Graduate students must maintain a 'B' average.

■ Those who receive tuition assistance must attend contracted institutions offering on-base programs.

■ Only courses that provide high school equivalency training or academic credit in graduate or undergraduate programs are eligible.

■ Nontraditional forms of education such as distance learning and independent study courses are only eligible through contracted institutions.

■ Doctoral courses and programs, other than English as a Second Language, are not eligible.

For more, call the education office at 2-3355 or stop by Bldg. T-400.

COMMENTARY

Haulin' the mail, riding patrol

What a great time I had this week working along side Airman Joshua Clark, Airman 1st Class John Rapuano, Senior Airman José Lopez, and Senior Airman Richard Brown. I was truly inspired by their enthusiasm, expertise, and professionalism.

Airman Clark — who works at the Chace Fitness Center — has only been in the Air Force for five months, but he handles himself like a seasoned veteran. We did everything from picking up the trash (mostly beer bottles) on the ball fields to posting the intramural scores on the web.

The one thing I came away with is that Airman Clark has a much better tolerance for people leaving their litter around than I do. I couldn't believe we have so many people who just trash the place and don't bother to think that one of our own is cleaning up behind them. That aside, I enjoyed working with Airman Clark and getting to know him. He is a great guy.

Wow! If you ever want to find out what happens around the base at night, just go on patrol with security forces. They know everything — at least Airman Rapuano did.

After riding around with him, I had a better appreciation of each patrol's responsibilities — how they worked as a team, where the potential hot spots are, and learned some not-so-common facts about the base. You should know, you are in safe hands when Airman Rapuano is on patrol. He is a first-rate defender.

Although I didn't get to workout at the fitness center, I felt like it when I worked with Airman Lopez at the post office. The volume of packages and mail wore me out even though it was a slow day due to the Portuguese holiday. Thank goodness!

It was evident Airman Lopez loves his job and he's been all over the world doing it. He's been in only five years and this is his fourth overseas assignment.

Consequently, it was a pleasure talking with him about all the places he's been as we made our runs to and from the Portuguese Airport.

That included Airman Lopez — another stellar Lajes performer — making sure your mail was processed and flown out as quickly as possible.

Last but not least, I spent a few hours with Airman Brown from the passenger terminal. As you know, the terminal has recently moved across the street. He gave me a personal tour of their temporary facility, which will be in operation for the next 15 months.

Unfortunately, the aircraft scheduled to land got canceled so I wasn't able to sling bags. However, I now have a better understanding of just how cyclical the job of an air transportation specialist can be.

I also learned more about space-A travel and how fortunate we are here to have so many opportunities to take advantage of this program. I think I will go to Italy first.

Let me just say, I think this was very worthwhile. I thoroughly enjoyed the time I spent not only learning more about what is happening behind the scenes but also getting to know four great guys.

Thank you Josh, John, José and Rich for making my job so much fun and for everything you do day in and day out. Our Air Force is in good hands. Keep up the great work.

Exploring Terceira's Caves

Summer opens doors to geological treasures

I heard there are a lot of caves here on the island. Where are they and are they safe? Is it true that you have to pay admission fees?

Terceira Island has four caves that can be visited and explored by enthusiasts of Mother Nature, especially during the summer months.

The two most visited caves are Algar do Carvão, the second largest cave, located close to Cabrito area and the Christmas Cave located near Lagoa do Negro (Black's Lake) in the center of the island.

The other two caves are Balcões, the largest one, located near the village of Biscoitos and Agulhas in the village of Porto Judeu.

Algar do Carvão is actually an extinct volcano chimney not totally filled with lava in the form of a cone, which is the remains of a some 2000-year-old volcanic eruption. The name means "coal pit" and was given because the cave walls are formed from dark black lava.

A tunnel and stairs offer access. At the end of the cave there is a subterranean lake, formed by rainwater. Depending on the season and the amount of rainwater, the lake can be up to 50 feet deep. The whole cave is spacious and contains magnificent stalactites and stalagmites.

The cave and the surrounding area were declared a natural monument after the initiative of the local spelunking group Os Montanheiros.

The Christmas cave, although less known, is also worth a visit.

It was named "Christmas" because it held a live nativity scene and a Christmas cantata shortly after it was discovered.

Both caves are maintained by Os Montanheiros. They recently underwent renovation works aiming at improving access to the visitors, including a reinforced electric lighting system and background music.

Volcanic museum

In addition to the caves, Os Montanheiros also maintain a volcanology museum at their office located at # 6, Rua da Rocha in Angra.

Here, visitors can see an exhibit of Azorean geological samples. The museum is open to the public Monday-Friday from 9 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

However, I recommended calling 295-212-992 to make sure it is open.

Os Montanheiros also organize special visits between Oct. 1 and May 31 for groups with more than 10 people. If you're interested give them a call and schedule a visit.

How and when to visit

The Algar do Carvão and Christmas

caves will be open every day from 2:45-5:45 p.m. through Sept. 30.

Admission for Algar do Carvão and the Christmas Cave is 2.50 and 2 Euros respectively.

Safety first

The Balcões and Agulhas caves are unattended and not lighted, so be careful going inside because of the slippery floors. Flashlights and appropriate clothing will also be needed for exploration of these two caves.

OUR STORIES

Things to remember

The post office suggests the following tips when sending mail:

- There are restrictions for using the military postal service of intratheater delivery service in conjunction with a permanent change of station. The only items authorized for free shipping during a PCS are uniforms and personal gear required to perform official duties at the next station. All other mail will be charged local rate.

- Write, type or print the complete address neatly and use a complete return address. Provide complete address information, such as avenue, boulevard and street. Use the apartment or suite number as well as the correct directional, such as north, west, and southwest. For example: 212 S. Oak St.

- Don't let an incorrect ZIP code create a glitch in timely delivery.

- Use tape designed for shipping — pressure-sensitive, nylon-reinforced craft paper tape, or glass-reinforced pressure-sensitive tape. Never use string or twine to secure a package.
